

Cinzia Ingratoci

Cinzia Ingratoci is Full professor of Maritime and Air Law, Transport Law, International Law of the Sea, at Law Department of the University of Messina.

She is PhD in “Navigation and Transport Law” (2000); Post-Doctoral Researcher (2001-2002), attached at the International Maritime Organization (IMO), London (September 2001-May 2002); Visiting Professor at the World Maritime University of Malmo (2014); Visiting Researcher at University of Cadiz (2018), at University of Ghent (Belgium) and at University of Oslo (Norway) (2019). Italian representative, since December 2019, in the International Network of representatives for analysis of the International CMR Convention, sponsored by Institut du droit International des Transports di Rouen (France).

She is Member of the College Board of Doctoral Degree in Legal Science, University of Messina; Member of the Executive Board of the Academic Series "Ricerche CUST"; Member of the Editorial Board of "Diritto marittimo (il)" and "Rivista del Diritto della navigazione" (A class Reviews).

Member of the ancient Italian Maritime Law Association (AIDIM); Member of the Italian Association of Navigation and Transport Law Professors (AIDINAT); Member of the Institute of Studies on Transport Law (ISDIT); Ordinary member of the historic Accademia Peloritana dei Pericolanti.

Deputy Director of the Department of Law in the University of Messina, she is author of more than 50 publications; her main principal research fields concern safety of navigation, maritime safety and security, classification societies, sustainable development of transport, public service contracts and obligations in the transport services, ports and airports management.

